KEMBE

Welcome!

My name is Kembe and I'm part of small group known as, the Gatherers. It is our purpose to search the galaxy for ancient relics... and what we find, we bring here to our workshop. What you see here may look like old junk... but let me assure you... some of it is new junk. We do this to hide our findings... So where those who would do us harm see only worthless clutter—those who know, see priceless history. And in these troubled times, preserving our past may ensure our future.

And that is why you are here. To build a lightsaber. The lightsaber has been wielded by some of our greatest heroes, and darkest enemies. It is elegant, and enigmatic. The saber is a reflection of its builder, with the Force flowing between them. Today, you will feel that connection. But enough of me talking. Let us begin.
